Trishuli River is one of the major tributaries of Narayani River basin in central Nepal. For those travellers who are seeking to have a rafting experience near around Kathmandu valley, this river is an ideal spot. This rafting tour is also suitable for the person who is a beginner. Though this river does not challenge with huge rapids but there are still some exciting rapids which can take away the breath for some seconds. Enjoying the beautiful scenario, one can enjoy this adventurous activity in a peaceful environment. This river acts as a confluence between two different sides of the country.

On one side there is a highway named after the King Prithvi Narayan Shah. Whereas the opposite side of the road is relatively wild and you could also see some wildlife with a profusion of colorful bird including eagles and vultures. For many people this river represents the ideal compromise rafting trip as it gives the right length of time, exhilarating rapid, yet not too difficult and easily accessible from Kathmandu.

The main reason of Trishuli River being one of the most popular rafting river of Nepal is because of its distance. It is just about 80 kilometers drive from Kathmandu which will take around two hours to reach the raft starting point called Charaudi. You can experience the thrills of white-water on the course of three days trip. Starting your rafting tour, you will be briefed by our professional guide. Afterwards, set out for the rafting tour in the Trishuli River. After rafting for about two-three hours, you will be stopped for lunch and after lunch you will continue to raft for a couple of hours. At evening, you will camp overnight at the river bank. The same continues for the next day as well. On our last day, you will raft to the ending point and then drive back to Kathmandu. Though, this river is known to be the safest river in Nepal for rafting tour but during the monsoon season, the intensity of the rapids increases and attracts a radically different set of rafters making this site an ideal spot for adventure lovers. Snell's Nose, Teen Devi, Ladies Delight, Upset and the aptly named surprise rapid are some of the rapids that you can experience while rafting in this river.
